partly because of run-ins he has had with Mansfield on the Senate floor.

Liberals also maintain that Muskie's selection as whip would give their segment of the party a representation in the Senate leadership that it does not have now.

Mansfield is regarded as a moderate while Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, who holds the No. 3 Democratic leadership post, has aligned himself with Southern conservatives on many issues.

After sampling the views of key members, leaders of the liberal bloc in the House have spread the word they will have nothing to do with any move to unseat speaker John N. McCormack when the 91st Congress opens in January.

McCormack, who will be 77 next month, has been speaker for seven years and is assured of another term.

Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okl., is majority leader and enjoys broad enough support to hold his job and to move up without too much opposition if the speakership becomes vacant in the near future.

The job the liberals have their eye on is that of the party whip, next in line below the majority leader and now held by Rep. Hale Boggs.

If there is a leadership fight before McCormack steps down it will be over the whip post. And if Albert moves up, the fight will be to keep Boggs from becoming majority leader.

Such a fight is not expected soon, however. The immediate goal of the liberals is to get a voice in the assigning of committee chairman and hopefully place two of their own on the Un-American Activities and Judiciary groups.

Astronauts Disagree With Astronomer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 8 astronauts don't agree with a prominent British astronomer who says their moon orbit flight, from a scientific view, is dangerous, silly and wasteful.

The transatlantic dispute started Wednesday when Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory, said in an interview:

"On a scientific basis this project is wasteful and silly. We've reached the stage with automatic landings when it's not necessary to risk human life to get information about the moon."

Speaking for the three Apollo 8 astronauts, Air Force Maj. William A. Anders told newsman Wednesday night:

"We obviously don't agree with him. We are flying primarily an operational mission and we strongly feel that a manned platform in lunar orbit with the operational equipment we have can add significant bits and pieces to scientific knowledge."

The old engineers on the railroads probably said the airplane would never work either.

Anders, Air Force Col. Frank Borman and Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. are scheduled to rocket toward the moon Dec. 21 on a six-day mission in which they are to orbit 69 miles above the lunar surface for 20 hours on Christmas Eve and part of Christmas Day.

The astronaut noted the main goal of the Apollo 8 mission is to test the spaceship and to learn something about flying in the vicinity of the moon, but that many scientific rewards were possible.

27 or June 23.

It wasn't until Oct. 23 Buchanan said that the Mizar picked up the first clear detection of the Scorpion's remains—what he called a "pretty" magnetometer reading and some contacts. This was confirmed by photography Oct. 30, he said.

The next day, Adm. Thomas H. Moore, chief of naval operations, announced that "objects identified as portions of the hull of the submarine USS Scorpion have been located."

Teams of civilian oceanographers worked around the clock monitoring the ocean bottom from the belly of the 3,700-ton Mizar as it zigzagged over the suspect area at a speed of little more than a knot.

The Mizar's search equipment consisted of a 22,000-foot cable and called a "fish" because, as Buchanan put it, "we want it to swim" at the end of its line about 25 feet above the ocean bottom.

Buchanan said that throughout the entire search period about 150,000 pictures were taken.

Negro Woman Says Police Beat Her

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Testimony opened in U.S. District Court here Wednesday on a $100,000 suit filed by Mrs. Elsie Crowell, 36, of near Star City, who claimed her civil rights were violated.

Mrs. Crowell, a Negro, told an all-male, white jury that she was clubbed, slapped and dragged by five Monticello policemen about a block from the Drew County Courthouse on Dec. 1, 1967.

She said her clothes were torn off and that she was threatened with a pistol in front of her husband, Charles, 36.

Defendants in the suit are Monticello Police Chief Harry Allison and five of his policemen, and two bonding companies, the Firemen's Fund Insurance Co., and the National Surety Corp.

Mrs. Crowell said that since the alleged attack by officers, she had suffered "headaches and dizzy spells" and other physical discomforts that prevented her from accomplishing her housework and her employment as a $20-a-week bookkeeper, when the family lived near Monticello.

The suit asks $75,000 in actual damages and $25,000 punitive damages.

Mrs. Crowell testified that she, her husband and three of their children went to a laundromat to see Crowell's sister. She said three of the officers named in the suit approached her husband to arrest him on a traffic charge. She said she protested because she had no driver's license and wouldn't be able to get the children home.

She said the officers took her husband and that she started the car to drive to see the sheriff. She said she was stopped by two other of the defendants, who began writing a traffic ticket because she didn't have a driver's license. She said then the other three officers drove up in a patrol car with her husband, and that's when the alleged incident occurred.

Dr. James Freeland of Star City testified that he treated Mrs. Crowell four times in December and January for muscle spasms and neck pain. University of Arkansas Medical Center records also were introduced as evidence that showed Mrs. Crowell had a fractured rib.

The defense noted in the court record its objection to entering the medical record as evidence since the defense contends other causes are to blame for Mrs. Crowell's physical condition.

Prison Search Audit Is Completed

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — John H. Haley of Little Rock, chairman of the state Board of Correction, said Wednesday that a search audit conducted at both Tucker and Cummins prison farms had been completed.

A copy of the audit was not made public, but Haley said a copy was sent to Prosecutor Joe Holmes of Pine Bluff. Haley said the audit showed that apparently persons close to prison employees had received free inmate labor and materials.

The board, meeting at Cummins, also voted to propose a $1.2 million bond issue to finance mechanization of the farm operation, construction of a maximum security unit and construction of a factory as part of the rehabilitation program.

The board also hired Bill Steed, 31, as farmer manager at Cummins. Steed has managed a 3,400-acre farm for eight years in St. Francis County.

In an earlier meeting Wednesday at Tucker Prison Farm, the board met with Commissioner of Corrections Charles R. Sawyer for the first time since he took office.

They toured the prison and were told of plans for the proposed chapel at Tucker.

Sex Changed, Son of British Actress Plans to Wed Negro Mechanic

By HENRIETTA LEITH Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Dawn Langley Hall, adopted son of British actress Dame Margaret Rutherford, says her romance with a young Negro mechanic in South Carolina began while she was undergoing sex-change treatment.

"He said it was the quickest romance he ever did hear tell of," said the new Charleston belle of her prospective husband, 22-year-old John Paul Simmons.

But, says Dawn, she was just "rather amused" when she first saw the young man stare at her after he came to her Society Street home in Charleston to see her book on a double date.

At that time she was back in Charleston during a break in an 18-month treatment at John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, treatment which included surgery, psychiatry and hormones.

And when the young mechanic first saw her, she said, she was carrying out the Hopkins doctors' orders to dress and behave like a woman.

She recalls that at their first meeting he was wearing "high boots, plaid pants and a yellow sweater, and looked very mod."

But she thought no more about it, she says, until "that night he forced entry into the house dressed in dirty old overalls, with his mechanic's cap."

Mrs. Hall, who plans to marry Simmons early next year in England—her adopted parents, Dame Margaret and her husband, actor Stringer Davis, expect to attend—sport an ornate seven-diamond engagement ring during a shopping and business trip here.

"He (Simmons) worked for three weeks as a longshoreman to get it," she said.

After the wedding, she says, despite threats and the disapproval of the Charleston society which once accepted her as a male British author, she and Simmons plan to live in Charleston.

"It's he that wants to," she said. "Charlestonians, black or white, have a great love of their city. I want to also have a home in Barbados and raise cattle—and a place where the children we plan to adopt can go swimming. And my adoptive parents will come—they're great swimmers—and it will be great fun."

"I feel that Gordon has died. I lived a life, crippled though I was, to the best of my ability. Before I was 30, I had written 10 books."

"Now this is a new life."

reduce the West German foreign trade surplus that has aroused relief the mark will be valued, a belief that is one of the chief causes for speculators exchanging francs for marks in huge quantities.

U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, British Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins and French Finance Minister Francois Xavier Ortoli were tightlipped as they left to get a few hours sleep before returning to the conference table.

Conference sources said the Germans came under strong pressure—a chief from the French and the British—to raise the official value of the mark. But other ministers called for devaluation of the franc, saying France's internal economic situation demanded this.

While the ministers argued in Bonn, the major foreign exchange markets around the world were closed for the rest of the week to check the flight from the franc. Speculators turned to gold Wednesday, but not much of the metal was available.

blat down in the mine does that to you.
The initial explosion was followed by two more about an hour later. A third rumble was heard in the mine in early evening and just before midnight, a pocket of gas blew out an opening which had been sealed to control the air flow and help subdue the fire.

Gov. Hulet Smith and the state Department of Mines director, Elmer Workman, went to the mine soon after the explosion to help coordinate rescue efforts. Smith said he had been promised federal help if needed.

Just a week ago, a fire at a department store in nearby Farmington killed four persons and did $1 million damage.

The Farmington mine is less than 10 miles from the scene of the worst mining disaster in U.S. history. In December 1907, an explosion at a Mine, W.Va., mine claimed 36 lives.

In May of this year, at Hominy Falls, W.Va., a mine crew broke through the wall of an abandoned and flooded mine. A wall of water burst through and trapped 25 men. Fifteen were rescued five days later, and 10 days after that, six men who had been without contact with the outside for all 15 days came out safely. Four men died.

2nd Kennedy Son Mourned by Family

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy family has commemorated the birthday of one slain son, Friday, they mourn the murder of another.

The Roman Catholic priest who administered last rites to President John F. Kennedy, assassinated Nov. 22 1963, celebrates a Mass in Dallas Friday.

Mrs. will also be recited in churches near the Georgetown home used by President Kennedy before moving into the White House and in New York, where his widow, Jacqueline Onassis, lives.

Mrs. Onassis went to St. Thomas More's Church Wednesday for one of two New York Masses in memory of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who would have been 43 Wednesday.

The youngest and sole survivor of the four Kennedy sons—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy—visited Arlington National Cemetery Wednesday with some of his and Robert's children.

With the early morning autumn sun spilling over their backs, the seven knelt in prayer at the small white cross marking Robert's grave and at the eternal flame marking John's.

Later Edward went to a Mass in memory of Robert at St. Luke's Church in McLean, Va. The service, reminiscent of the New York Requiem Mass sung after the senator was shot last June in Los Angeles, included a Jewish cantor and vocal solos with guitar accompaniment.

Two of the senator's sons, David, 13, and Michael, 10, served as altar boys.

Their mother, Ethel, remained in the family's nearby Hickory Hill home under doctors' orders. She is awaiting the birth of her 11th child.

Attending the New York Mass at the Church of the Holy Family were Edward's wife, Joan; Kennedy sisters, Jean Smith and Pat Lawford, and several of the former president's New Frontier advisers.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's "Hall of Fame" has had a change of pace and is moving in a new direction with an original, contemporary drama starting its series this season. It may be a misstep, if the Wednesday night program is a sample since the program about a professional football player was curiously unsatisfying and unsympathetic.

Some drama about those warriors who occupy so much of weekend television probably is overdue, but "A Point, a Pass and a Prayer" does not seem to be the answer.

The original play by David Marks was the story of a star quarterback who had suffered an almost-fatal head injury on the field two years before and, still suffering from some disability, was trying to crash his way back into football's big time.

The 90-minute drama, however, left the viewer cool, repelled and perplexed since there was not really one character with whom to identify. The central figure, quarterback Johnny Aragon, was played aggressively by Hugh O'Brian. He was so completely self-centered and compulsive about football and the adulation that he not only failed to evoke sympathy but often led the audience to suspect that he had gone mad.

Betsy Palmer, as his wife, had the thankless task of constantly wringing her hands and pleading with him to quit. The manager of the small-town team and the scout for the major-league team were portrayed as callous exploiters of men. A sports reporter was depicted as a sensation monger who didn't understand the inner turmoil of an average football hero who wouldn't quit.

The dialogue was pedestrian. The story made professional football seem tawdry and cruel. And one long scene, with O'Brian running around at night on an empty football field and fantasizing, was embarrassingly contrived.

Of course, the man failed to make his comeback. He was rejected brutally by the scout. And somehow, in the quick windup, this was supposed to reconcile him to going back to his wife and finding a new life far from the gridiron.

In the first move in the new direction, the going was slow, bumpy and predictable. The first lady will be the star of an ABC special on Dec. 27, not long before moving day. She will talk with Howard K. Smith about life at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue during the past five years.

17 Bobcats in Final Game Friday

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Seventeen seniors will give it their final go tomorrow night, in their last football game for the Bobcats against the Arkadelphia Badgers at Hammond Stadium with a shot at third place in 4-AA's Western Division at stake.

However, the Badgers are not the perennial pushover that they were for so long, and Head Coach Frank Spahnour gets my vote for any "coach of the year" honors that roll around. After going 1-11 in 1966 and 0-11 last fall under Winston Duke, a native of Hope, the Badgers formed a nucleus of two straight unbeaten junior high squads, and the boys have held the winning tradition through this year.

Presently 7-3, Arkadelphia was at its best against Magnolia, losing to the 11-0 Panthers only 12-0. That's as close as any team has been to Magnolia all year. Two weeks ago, however, the Fairview Cardinals ripped 'em apart by a 43-6 count, their biggest loss of the year. Last week they downed Camden Lincoln 20-5 on a muddy field, in about the same manner as Hope beat them.

Offensively the Badgers line up in a wide or pro slot formation, with a split end normally to the strong side. With a couple of good quarterbacks around, Spahnour chose youth and has started sophomore Bill Vining (165) from the beginning.

Vining is a good passer and a better runner, and he has a passing threat also in tailback Jim Hurley, a southpaw 160-pound senior who could also play some at quarterback. Out at slotback is junior Nolan Smith, a junior 150-pounder who played little as a soph.

Soph Ricky Tucker moved right into the fullback spot, and he ran 80 yards against the Bobkittens last fall for one TD. A 170-pounder, Tucker is also a fine blocker and pass receiver.

The line is well-proportioned and young, including two seniors, three juniors, and two sophs.

At tight end is 10th grader Danny Hurley (170), Jim's younger brother and a real hitter. Beside him at weakside tackle is another sophomore, 210-pound Ed Coston. Coston gained 20 pounds in the off-season weight program and has a bright future ahead of him.

Returning incumbent at weakside guard is senior Bobby Shepard, a fine 165-pounder who also does well on defense. At center is Raymond Cheatham, a 150-pounder in his first year playing football.

The strong side is smaller but faster, and guard Mike Caldwell (160) is a good example. A hard blocker, the fine junior pulls with good speed and works well on the trap plays. At strong-side tackle is junior Tom Rutledge (190), who is a returning starter.

Another returning first teamer is senior Ricky Graham at split end, and Graham (145) is also a capable QB. He is the Smith, and he catches the ball quite well.

That offense will give the Bobcats problems, but the defense is simply an orthodox monster setup, just like the Bobcats use. Danny Hurley and fellow soph Jackie Yeager, a tough 170-pounder, start at the ends and have gained much experience against the league's offenses.

Sometime, though, Yeager will play monster man and alternate at the two spots with QB Bill Vining at left end.

The tackles are Rutledge and Coston, also the offensive tackles, but both seem to be in good enough shape to go all the way. The noseman is senior Keenan Crawley, at 165-pounder who was injured much of last year and saw very little action.

Tucker and Shepard also go both ways, teaming at the line-backer posts and doing a fine

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bill Stancil doesn't have anything against Hot Springs, but he probably was not unhappy to see Fort Smith Southside upset the Trojans.

Southside's victory should help Stancil prepare his Fort Smith Northside Grizzlies for Friday's battle with the Rebels.

Now, Stancil can talk about Southside as the co-champions of the Class AAA Western Division. He can also remind his Grizzlies that Springdale scored three touchdowns on them and that Hot Springs defeated Springdale.

To be sure, the Grizzlies realize their second consecutive unbeaten season and their second straight state championship hang in the balance.

They will be ready.

No Change in Dancer's Hearing

By GEORGE HACKETT
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

After three days of testimony, the hearing on Dancer's Image still is enmeshed in analytic chemistry and legal technicalities.

The format remains unchanged today as Kenneth W. Smith returns to the witness stand to defend his laboratory tests which indicated that the 1968 Kentucky Derby winner had traces of a forbidden medication in his urine after the race.

Acting on this information, the stewards at Churchill Downs withheld the first prize of $122,600, a decision the colt's owner, Peter Fuller, is trying to get reversed.

His appeal is being handled by the Kentucky Racing Commission, which heard Smith admit Wednesday that he could have made a procedural error in one of the five tests he ran on the urine the night of May 4 after the Derby.

Smith, a state racing chemist since 1949, contended, however, there was enough evidence to prove conclusively that Phenylbutazone was present in the colt.

This is an analgesic drug which can be used in the treatment of sore ankles, a condition that bothered Dancer's Image.

Smith stood by the conclusion he had reached despite intensive cross-examination from Fuller's counsel.

Smith also disclosed that on the day after the Derby he sent a small amount of the urine to a colleague "because I was curious to see what he would find."

When the report came back, Smith said it agreed with his findings.

This was contradictory to testimony given earlier in the day by the second chemist, L. E. Harris of Lincoln, Neb.

Harris told the commission that he got a very faint positive reaction for Phenylbutazone on one of his own tests, but that the others were negative. He said he repeated the tests later in the week and got the same results.

In further testimony Harris said that he considered satisfactory the five tests run by Smith, but that he himself uses others in trying to detect Phenylbutazone.

He also said he knows of no other drug that would give the results that Smith claims he obtained in his tests for Phenylbutazone.

Cincinnati Royals

PROSPECTUS—With Lucas and Robertson, Royals are always tough. Dierking made big contribution last season, which was pleasant surprise. Still, Ed Jucker needs help up front and in backcourt. Lucas and Robertson can't do it alone. Prediction—Fifth in East.

Ed Jucker

FORWARDS—Jerry Lucas is Jerry Lucas. He didn't miss a game last season, averaged 21.4, and was second-leading rebounder in league behind Chamberlain. John Tresvant (12.3) is steady, but unspectacular. Loss of Bob Love (6.4) and Len Chappell (3.8) to expansion hurt depth. Rating—B.

CENTER—Connie Dierking is coming off best year ever. He averaged 16.4 and pulled down 766 rebounds. Also made some clutch plays. With added confidence, he should better that performance. Walt Wesley, a seven-footer, is in reserve. Rating—B.

BACKCOURT—The Big O—Oscar Robertson—is still in class by himself. Despite missing almost 30 games last season with injuries, he averaged 29.2 (best average in league) and led team with 633 assists. Adrian Smith (15.6) holds down other spot capably. Tom Van Arsdale (7.9) backs them up. Rating—A.

ROOKIES—Three rookies, Don Smith (Iowa State), Pat Frank (Colorado) and Fred Foster (Miami of Ohio) might stick. None figures prominently. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

A-State Ranks 19th in Small College Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Powerful San Diego State and North Dakota State remained on-tune, but Chattanooga and Indiana, Pa., gained ground today in The Associated Press' weekly small college football poll.

The Aztecs, idle last weekend, drew 13 of the 16 first-place votes cast by a regional panel of sports writers and sportscasters for 314 points.

San Diego State aims for its ninth straight against Tennessee State this weekend, then closes the following week with Utah State.

North Dakota State, which earned a trip to the Pecan Bowl with a 9-0 season, had only one top vote but rolled up 270 points.

New Mexico Highlands, 9-0, also finished for the season, remained third, while Chattanooga, 9-1, moved up a notch to fourth following a 31-14 coast past Furman.

Indiana, Pa., 9-0, jumped from ninth to fifth although it also was idle last Saturday.

Texas A&M, 8-1, a 54-21 conqueror of Sam Houston State, advanced from seventh to sixth, and Tampa, 7-2, dropped from fourth to seventh after losing to Southern Illinois 23-20.

Eastern Michigan, 8-2, vaulted all the way from no where into the No. 8 slot after stopping Wittenburg 14-7.

Western Kentucky, 8-1-1, dropped a spot to ninth because of a 14-14 deadlock with No. 16 Akron, 6-2-1.

Eastern Kentucky, 7-2, lost to Youngstown 26-12 and slipped from sixth to 10th.

Morgan State was 11th, up one place; Willamette moved from 16th to 12th; South Dakota advanced one spot to 13th; Central Missouri State fell from 11th to 14th and Troy State dropped from 13th to 15th despite a 70-0 blasting of Concord College, W.Va.

Rounding out the Top 20 were No. 17 Kings Point; No. 18 Humboldt State; No. 19 Arkansas State, a newcomer, and No. 20 Weber State.

Three players were kicked out of the New York-Atlanta game after sporadic fistfights throughout the contest flared into a wild free-for-all under the Knicks' basket in the final quarter.

New York's Willis Reed and Lou Hudson and Bill Bridges of the Hawks were banished after order was restored.

Both benches rushed onto the floor and milled around with most of the players attempting to stop the fight. There were no serious injuries, although both Reed and Bridges suffered facial cuts and bloody noses.

The fighting apparently was touched off in the first quarter when the Hawks' Paul Silas took a swing at New York's Phil Jackson.

New York led 31-27 at half-time and 81-83 at the start of the final period, but the Hawks outscored the Knicks 28-21 in the last session to win it.

That left the Eastern race in as much doubt as ever. Baltimore, which has won 10 of its last 11 games, remains first, but Boston is only a half-game behind and third-place Cincinnati is just a game off the pace.

Atlanta knocked off New York 111-106 in a game marked by flaring tempers and flying fists in the NBA's only other scheduled activity.

In the American Basketball Association, Kentucky defeated Denver 109-101, Indiana rolled past Houston 103-94, Miami routed New York 111-126 and Oakland stopped Los Angeles 129-125.

Jim Barnett, who scored a career high 36 points, sparked a rally that boosted the Rockets from a nine-point deficit in the third quarter to a narrow lead in the final period.

But then Scott, who had managed only six of 17 shots from the floor and only one of eight in the first half, hit three baskets to give Baltimore control.

Robertson and Smith teamed for nine straight points in the second quarter to break a 42-42 deadlock as Cincinnati made the Warriors its 12th victim in 17 games. That spree helped the Royals to an 11-point halftime lead, and San Francisco never caught up.

Robertson finished with 29 points and Nate Thurmond had 27 for the Warriors.

Eight players scored in double figures for Boston with Tom Sanders and John Havlicek leading the way with 21 points each. Rookie Art Harris was high for Seattle with 15.

The Celtics trailed 15-11 halfway through the first period when they went on a 10-point tear and never relinquished the lead. Boston was ahead at half-time 66-51 but the Sonics moved to within 65-57 early in the third quarter before the Celtics pulled away again.

Tempers Hot in Torrid NBA Chase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How do you keep a torrid race torrid? Simple. Mix a pair of rallies with a rout—at least that's the solution in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division title chase.

Ray Scott fired a late rally that carried Baltimore to a 114-110 conquest of San Diego Wednesday night, and Oscar Robertson and Adrian Smith led a spur that powered Cincinnati past San Francisco 113-107, while Boston bombed Seattle 139-92.

That left the Eastern race in as much doubt as ever. Baltimore, which has won 10 of its last 11 games, remains first, but Boston is only a half-game behind and third-place Cincinnati is just a game off the pace.

Brown Named Class Favorites Are Selected

NFL Player of Week

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Brown is the Green Bay Packers' strong safety. His main job is to handle tight ends like Baltimore's John Mackey and Los Angeles' Bill Truax. If he gets his hands on the ball it's usually an interception or a punt return.

In nine Packer games before last Sunday's meeting with New Orleans, Brown had picked off only one pass and had scored one touchdown on a punt return.

Brown made headlines Sunday for the first time since he intercepted Don Meredith's desperation pass in the final seconds of the 1966 National Football League title game. For sweeping up a New Orleans fumble and running 22 yards for a score and also intercepting a pass that set up a touchdown, Brown has been named The Associated Press as the defensive player of the week in the NFL.

"Or, the fumble you have to give credit to Herb Adderley and Robby (linebacker Dave Robinson)," Brown said. "They hit Saints' runner Don McCall high and low and forced the fumble. The ball was just lying there and anybody could have run it in."

"Robby deflected the pass on the interception and it was just a matter of me playing the ball."

Chorus line from Journalism 1 class which produced the show telling election results and introduction of the Senior 16 and class favorites and beauties, includes: Connie Hendrix, Lamar Cox, Be-hinda Butler, Paula Burnett, Mar- Ebert, Marilu Huckabee and Jane abeth Millican, Tina Martin, Pat Brooks, Letcham, Linda Wray, Mollie

George Andrie, 6-foot-7, 250-pound defensive end of the Dallas Cowboys, also drew a nomination for his part in a pass rush that forced a fumble that led to a 21-yard touchdown run by Larry Cole, the other defensive end.

Bob Lurtsema, New York Giants' defensive tackle, was awarded the game ball for his aggressive play against Philadelphia when the Giants held the Eagles to minus one yard in the second half.

Mary Liuzzo Faces Term in Prison

DETROIT (AP) — The daughter of slain civil rights worker Viola Liuzzo says the hardest part of the federal prison term she faces for smuggling marijuana is "knowing how I've hurt my father."

"He's been hurt so much," 20-year-old Mary Liuzzo said Wednesday at the Wayne County jail where she is awaiting a trip to the federal reformatory for women at Alderson, W. Va., for two months' psychiatric observation.

"I know I've done wrong," said Miss Liuzzo, who has dark brown eyes and long shaggy soft brown hair. "I'll never break the law again."

Her mother, Mrs. James Liuzzo—a Detroit housewife, civil rights worker and mother of five—was shot to death March 25, 1968 while driving between Selma and Montgomery, Ala. No one has been convicted in the case.

The Senior 16 and class favorites are seated, left to right: Pat Westbrook, Terry Fry, Ju- anne Reynolds, Jan Herring, Mike Monroe, Janet Foley, Donna Stevenson, John Kemp. Standing: Mickey Allen, Jim- my Singleton, Danny Reyenga, Carroll Beck, Al Verser, Nan- cy Martindale, Robyn Galloway and Gail Burke.

Crank Intends to Head the Democrats

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) —
Marrion H. Crank makes it clear that he intends to be the leader of the state Democratic party notwithstanding any attempts that might be made to diminish his party role.
Although it is reported that reform elements might oppose any direct control of the party by him, Crank foresees no move to reduce his authority. He said the reins of leadership aren't "in anybody else's hands and they cannot be in anybody else's hands."
"It is not a matter of keeping them in my hands," he said. "Nobody else can take them because I was the one who was elector." "Elected" in this sense means nominated by the party as its candidate for governor, which makes Crank the titular head of the party. "No one can fill my shoes until we have another election," Crank said. Jim Johnson became the titular head of the party in 1966 on the basis of his primary victory, and he also said he would maintain party leadership, but during his two-year tenure the party remained largely in limbo.

Crank says he will be an active, concerned party leader who "will certainly be involved in the decisions to be made." "We're in much better position than we were in 1966," he said. "Then the party was shattered gto y there is solidarity, a feeling of togetherness, a feeling that we have something to work for."

There is a move afoot by some younger members of the party to refurbish the party image. Among those in this move are House Speaker-designate Hayes, McClerkin of Texarkana; Speaker Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock, who has been named majority leader by McClerkin; Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell, and new party Chairman Charles Matthews.
Cockrill, who says there have been discussions among the four, claims that a "new generation is coming on." McClerkin says it is mandatory

Ready to swing in Ford Country

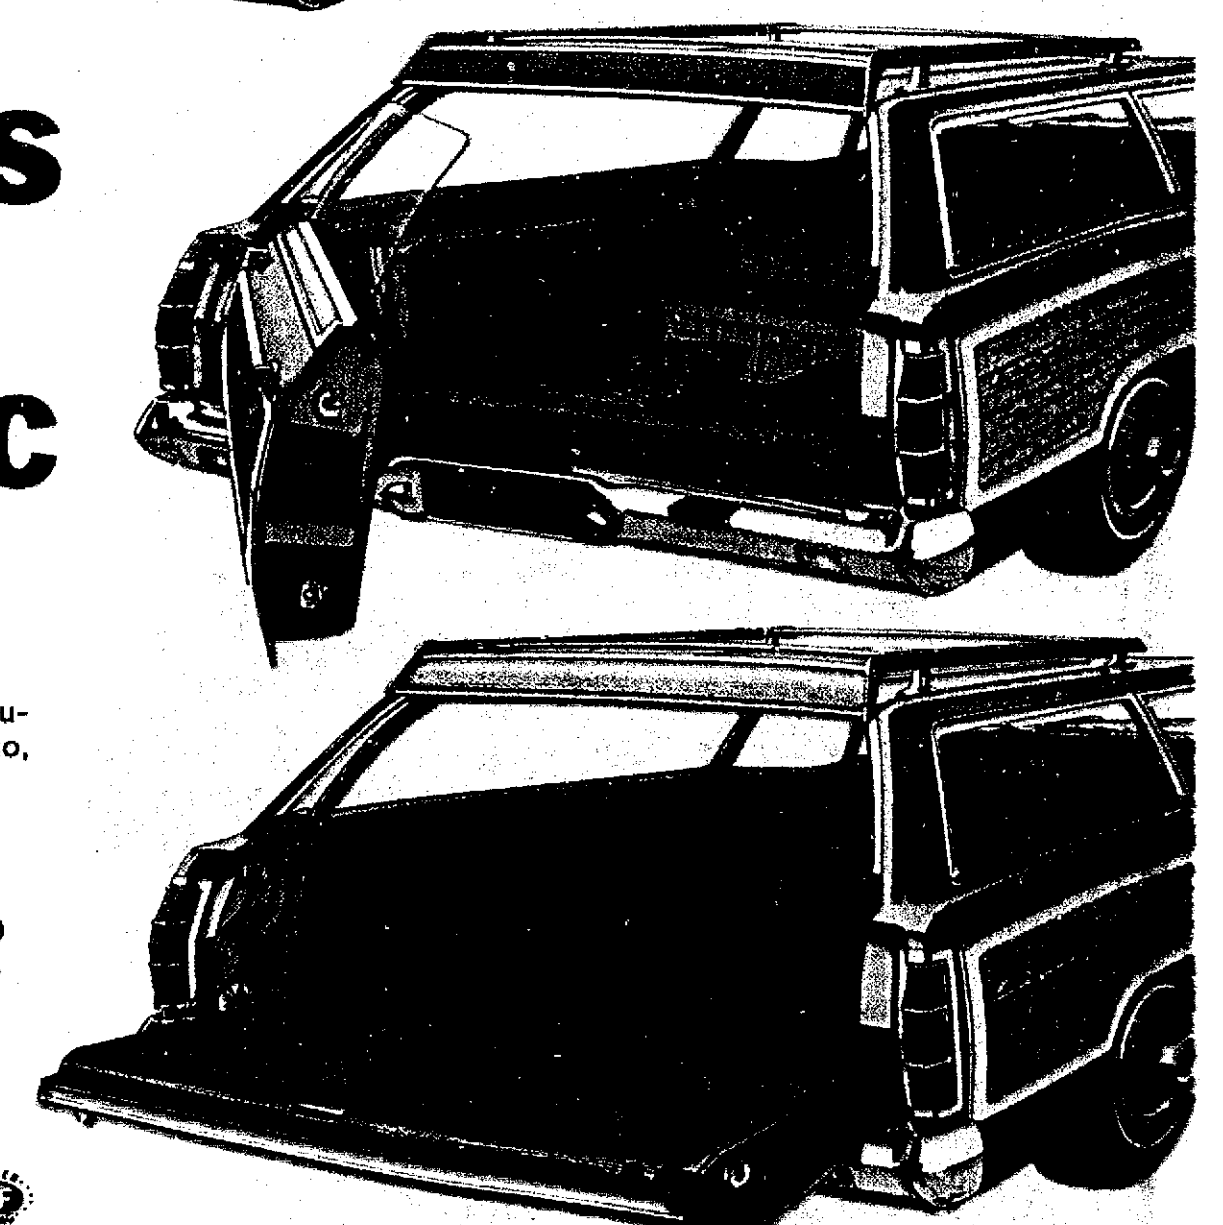

Ford Country Squire

1969 Ford Wagons with new 3-way Magic Doorgate

Now Ford's best-selling wagons swing three ways. Exclusive 3-way Magic Doorgate 1) flips down for cargo, 2) swings wide for passengers with window down, or 3) up! Magic Doorgate is standard on the '69 Country Squire. So is a track as wide as Cadillac's, and an elegant die-cast grille with hidden headlights. No wonder Ford's the wagon-master.

 A finicky appetite, acid indigestion caused by nervous tension or the abdominal distress associated with colitis. Gnawing discomfort relieved by food taking is characteristic of a peptic ulcer only if the distress can be pinpointed in the pit of the stomach. When it exists without X-ray confirmation of the disease, it may be due to some other cause which should be sought.

 Flatulence or bloating may be associated with excessive air swallowing, colitis, a starchy diet, drinking large amounts of carbonated beverages or the regular taking of laxatives. Insomnia has many causes but, when due to an ulcer, the victim is awakened from a sound sleep by his gnawing distress and can't go to sleep again until he drinks a glass of milk or eats some gelatin.

 TAKING OVER as U.S.
 representative to the U.N.,
 Washington Post editor J.
 Russell Wiggins, above, was named to succeed George Ball, who resigned to participate in the presidential campaign of Vice President Humphrey.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

 Q—My husband frequently gets water brash. It may even wake him up at night.
 He doesn't drink but he smokes a lot. What causes water brash and what can he do for it?

 A—To some people, water brash means the bringing up of liquid from the stomach into the mouth. This could be a direct result of excessive smoking. Quitting should help this symptom.
 For temporary relief any of the many aluminum hydroxide antacids could be taken.
 One of the most important measures, however, is to cultivate the habit of eating slowly and chewing the food thoroughly. At the turn of the century, Horace Fletcher, an American dietitian, advocated this practice and the term
 "Fletcherize" meaning to chew each mouthful of food 40 times before swallowing, was added to the language.
 More correctly, water brash refers to reflex over-pouring of alkaline saliva and its regurgitation from the esophagus. It is usually associated with peptic ulcer or an obstruction in the esophagus.

 Q—What is a nervous stomach? I have the symptoms of an ulcer—gnawing distress relieved by food, flatulence and sleeplessness
 —yet X rays show no signs of an ulcer. What would cause these symptoms?

 A—Nervous stomach is a vague term that may mean that ace of spades.

 Q—The bidding has been:
 West North East South
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠
 Pass 3 ♦ Pass

 You, South, hold:
 ♠K 10 8 5 4 ♥A 10 ♦5 3 ♣7 6 5 4

What do you do now?

 A—Bid three hearts. This is an all-purpose bid. It keeps you below three no-trump if your partner is heading in that direction and your partner can't hold hearts on this bidding sequence.

Self-Basting Turkey

Self-basting turkey is Thanksgiving boon.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Yes, there really is a new type of turkey.

It's the revolutionary self-basting turkey. No basting required all during the full roasting time. By an exclusive patent, a large Chicago packing house puts creamy butter deep inside breasts, legs and thighs. So why should you baste?

We were enthusiastic about the tenderness of the meat. The turkey comes in 8- to 22-pound sizes, frozen in a colorful polyethylene bag with cooking instructions clearly printed on it.

You will be thrilled, we think, about the no-basting. Also, to see the natural juices of the bird and the injected butter bubble up through the bird while all you have to do is to watch.

Thaw turkey in bag in refrigerator for 2 to 3 days OR thaw at room temperature for 6 to 9 hours and finish in refrigerator (approximately 12 hours). Do not thaw in warm water. Keep thawed turkey refrigerated. Use within 24 hours after thawing.

Uncovered Pan Roasting

Free drumsticks from EZ Stuff Clamp. Remove neck from body cavity and giblets from neck cavity. Place neck and giblets in saucepan. Cover with water and simmer until tender. Use giblets and broth for stuffing or gravy. Stuff neck cavity and fasten with skewer. Stuff body cavity and refasten EZ Stuff Clamp. Place turkey, breast up, on rack in roasting pan. Roast in 325-degree oven for time indicated on roasting guide. To avoid overbrowning, place a loose piece of foil over turkey during final cooking time after bird has reached a golden brown color.

Weight (Pounds)	Uncovered Pan 325 F. Oven
8 to 10	3 to 3 1/2 hours
10 to 12	3 1/2 to 4 hours
12 to 14	4 to 4 1/2 hours
14 to 16	4 1/2 to 5 hours
16 to 18	5 to 5 1/2 hours
18 to 20	5 1/2 to 6 hours
20 to 22	6 to 6 1/2 hours
22 to 24	6 1/2 to 6 3/4 hours

If turkey is roasted unstuffed, allow 15 to 30 minutes less cooking time.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

THE TRUTH HURTS, BUT DOUBT IS WORSE

Dear Helen: I overheard my aunt and my mother talking, and now I'm so mixed up I can't think straight.

They are playing reverse roles. My aunt is really my mother, and my father's wife is really my aunt. Or maybe he isn't my father either, but if he isn't who is my father?

Anyway, I guess I was raised by my aunt who I thought was my mother. I love them both. I love my "father." But who am I? — J. G.

Dear J.: You are the same person you've always been. Remember that, and the truth won't create problems. Then ask your parents (all three of them) for an explanation. They'll probably be relieved to know the deception is over at last. — H.

Dear Helen: I am 17. About a year ago I was in an automobile accident and was paralyzed from the waist down. I am learning to walk again, with braces and metal crutches.

This year at school I met a wonderful boy. He takes me to ball games and concerts, and we have great times talking. We're good pals, but I feel so self-conscious because I'm afraid I'm making him "stared at," as if "Why would a good looking guy like that go with a girl like her?"

The other night he wanted to kiss me, and now I'm terribly confused. I only expected friendship. Should I stop seeing him? — NOT QUITE NORMAL

Dear NQN: Of course you shouldn't stop seeing him! With his help, you'll soon stop seeing yourself as a cripple, and then you'll go as far as your brains and heart will carry you. I think you've already discovered you don't need legs to lead a normal, happy life. — H.

Dear Helen: My boy friend is a Marine in Vietnam. I'm very proud of him. The fellows I know who have come back from "Nam" are proud to have helped. They say they were appreciated by the villagers. One soldier I know is in charge of a Boy Scout troop there and has volunteered to stay overseas for his second year.

But one thing worries me. I have just met a former soldier who got home three months ago. He has already quit a job and is going to quit school because he is constantly being knocked down and told how "dumb" he was to have fought for his country. It got around that he volunteered, you see.

Helen, please print this. I don't want my boy friend to get these snide remarks when he comes home. Those who are against the war shouldn't take it out on the soldiers, who risked their lives. They only answered a call from their Country. — MARINE'S PROUD GIRL FRIEND

Dear M.P.G.: Don't worry: A Marine will know how to handle the few snide remarks he gets!

Perhaps the former soldier is too thin-skinned. A man courageous enough to volunteer and serve in "Nam," should be able to take a few pecks from the doves.

Practically No Hope for 78 Miners

By RON JACKSON

JOE KROVISKY
Associated Press Writer
MANNINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Dense smoke and intense heat kept rescue teams today from entering a coal mine where 78 men were trapped by a series of explosions and a fire.

Twenty-one men were rescued after the explosions early Wednesday thundered through the Mountaineer Coal Co. No. 9 mine which sits in the rich fields of north-central West Virginia amid clusters of gas wells.

"There's almost no hope of getting (the trapped men) out alive," said Harry Turner, safety inspector for Consolidation Coal Co., Mountaineer's parent firm.

If the initial explosion and fire didn't get to the men, Turner said, "it's possible that collapses within the mine caused by the heat and concussion would do them in."

Thirteen of the other 21 men in the mine when the first blast hit at 5:40 a.m. rushed to the surface. A giant crane pulled eight others from a ventilation shaft.

"We must wait until the flames die down," said William Poundstone, executive vice president of Consolidation. "Rescue operations are still impossible because of the density of the fire."

Company officials indicated no move toward rescue would be made before this afternoon, possibly later, because of the intense heat.

Hard-hatted miners waited in the nearby union hall during the night in case the situation changed. But thick smoke continued to curl from the mine's entrance.

Four of the men who made it out were put under observation at nearby Fairmont General Hospital. None was considered in serious condition.

"The Lord was with us," said Lewis Lake, 55, a mine veteran from Owings, W.Va. "He brought us through because we couldn't see a thing."

Alva Davis, 29, of nearby Farmington, who also was in the mine, said he was not hurt.

Man 92, Hit and Killed

ATKINS, Ark. (AP) — Bill Coffey, 92, of Atkins was killed Wednesday night when he was struck by a truck on U.S. 64, about 1.7 miles east of Atkins.

Officers said Coffey was walking in the middle of the westbound lane when he was struck by a truck driven by William E. Stevenson, 29, also of Atkins.

Most Actors Have a Built-in Capacity for Self-destruction

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "Most actors, directors and writers have both an appetite for life and a built-in capacity for self-destruction," said Joseph Losey.

"It is the appetite for life that makes them great, and it is the impulse to self-destruction that makes them difficult people to deal with."

At 59, Losey, tall, blue-eyed, rugged-featured, is one of the most notable film directors of his generation, but better known in Europe now than in his native America.

He feels the pressure of the industry is particularly frustrating to writers.

"They suffer from what is now fashionably known as terminal anxiety," he said cheerfully. "Most writers are afraid to start on a project, and then are afraid to finish it when they get to the end."

Diagnosis of a situation comes naturally to Losey. Born in Ia Crossa, Wis., his first choice of a career was medicine. But at Dartmouth College and later as a graduate student at Harvard he was permanently sidetracked by a developing interest in the drama.

WEIGHTY DECISIONS rest on Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, director of the Apollo program. His goal is to clear the way for putting an American on the moon during 1969. The Apollo 8 launch in December will send a three-man spacecraft around the moon, according to announced plans.

Strike by Czechs Is Easing

PRAGUE (AP) — Leaders of 100,000 students striking to protest loss of their new freedoms in this Soviet-occupied nation called for an end to their massive sit-ins at noon today as Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders appealed to workers not to join the protest.

The strike leaders earlier had announced a 24-hour extension of their three-day-old protest, prolonging it to 8 p.m. tonight. Then they announced the extension would be cut to 16 hours.

Shortly after reports that broken sympathy strikes were being launched in a number of industrial plants, the presidiums of the Communist party, the government, the National Assembly and the Trades Union Council issued a joint declaration charging that "irresponsible people" were trying to "divide the working class."

The leadership appealed for the protesters to "stop in time the danger which is threatening us."

The students holed up in their school buildings after the government banned street demonstrations during the meeting last weekend of the Communist party Central Committee. Although the government made no move to clear the buildings, it said the strike was an improper method of expressing opinion.

The students were trying to rally support against the Central Committee's abandonment of such reforms as press freedom, freedom of assembly and the right of unrestricted foreign travel.

Top Democrat Leaders Seem Certain to Keep Posts in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Democratic leaders of the last Congress appear certain to keep their posts in the new one with this only real leadership question centering on what part—if any—will be played by Maine's Edmund Muskie.

Liberal Democrats in the Senate plan to sound out Muskie, the party's unsuccessful vice presidential candidate, on getting into the race for whip or assistant leader.

Plans have been made to try to unsat Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the present Democratic whip.

A spokesman for the liberals, unwilling to be quoted, told a reporter they hope to find out shortly whether Muskie is willing to challenge Long.

Long, chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, has sent a letter to all his Democratic colleagues saying he was proud to have been part of the party leadership for the last four years and hoped to continue in it.

Long's supporters say they believe he can count on 30 votes when the 58 Democratic senators caucus to elect their leaders for the new Congress.

Liberals do not contend it would be easy to oust Long as assistant to Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana—who faces no challenge to his own position. But they say they have a chance if Muskie can be prevailed on to run for the post.

Some Democratic senators have shown signs of not being too happy with Long as whip.

Clue Leading to the Scorpion May Not Have Been From Submarine

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The clue which finally led to the finding of the nuclear submarine Scorpion two miles deep in the Atlantic ocean was a small piece of metal that may not have been from the ill-fated vessel.

Chester L. Buchanan, the Naval Research Laboratory official who supervised much of the Scorpion search said in an interview that "the first hint of something" came in late June when a boat metal plate was detected.

Buchanan said sonar and cameras suspended far below the oceanographic research ship Mizar, discovered and photographed the three-to-four-foot piece of metal. The plate was too deep to recover.

Some Navy men doubted the metal plate was part of the sub and even today nobody will say for sure that it came from the Scorpion.

But the find, which came about a month after the sub and lance journalist, theatrical trade paper reporter and radio writer, at 23 he directed his first Broadway play, "Little Boy," which launched Burgess Meredith as an actor. He also served briefly as first stage manager for the Radio City Music Hall here.

Nixon Talks Policy With Cabinet Men

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, stretching his stay in Florida, is conducting discussions about the men who will make up his Cabinet, and the policies with which he will guide them.

But these deliberations are being described publicly only in the most broad and general terms. And the names under consideration are a carefully shielded secret.

The President-elect planned another round of manpower and policy talks today before heading back to New York, his nominal headquarters for the period of government transition but his base for only five days since his election.

Key participants in the current talks are Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California, and John N. Mitchell, a partner in the Nixon law firm who served as his campaign manager.

Cabinet posts for both men are considered a possibility and a Nixon spokesman said their personal roles in the administration had certainly come under discussion.

Rockefeller to Ask Sales Tax Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Wednesday that he will make public in about two weeks his specific tax proposals to finance his program for the state.

Rockefeller said he is pretty sure at this time of the proposals which will be made, and he said he expects to ask for a one cent increase in the sales tax.

The governor said at a news conference that his program will be given to the legislature before the tax bills to finance it are presented so the legislature can decide how much of the program it wants to finance.

He said that his 1969 legislative program, if enacted in its entirety, would call for $55 million to $65 million in tax increases.

The governor also talked about increases in both individual and corporation income taxes and about a proposed bill to legalize mixed drinks, which would produce about $3.5 million a year in new revenues.

When the subject of liquor came up, Rockefeller was asked if he had endorsed a recent crackdown by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Department on illegal sale of mixed drinks in private clubs.

The governor said he had told ABC Director Joe Gaspard to start with the more flagrant violators and that the activity should constitute a warning to all clubs that their time is coming.

3 American Planes Are Shot Down

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Three U.S. aircraft have been shot down near Da Nang, killing eight Americans and injuring 12 others, the U.S. Command announced today.

The allied command also reported that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces killed 127 Americans and 128 South Vietnamese.

The aircraft lost were a big Marine CH-46 helicopter, an F-4 Phantom II jet and an F-4 Phantom II jet fighter-bomber.

The helicopter was shot down Wednesday as it was landing in a field about 10 miles south of Da Nang, in an area where South Vietnamese forces killed hundreds of North Vietnamese in a big battle Sunday. Six Americans were killed and 12 were wounded in the helicopter crash.

The chopper was the 926th helicopter downed in combat during the Vietnam war, a spokesman said.

The Super Sabre was shot down northwest of Da Nang Wednesday as it was directing bombers to their targets, and the Phantom was downed in the same area Tuesday. The Phantom's two crewmen were killed, but the two men aboard the Super Sabre were rescued by helicopter.

The loss of the two jets raised the total of U.S. fixed-wing planes downed in combat in South Vietnam to 322.

Just after dawn today, North Vietnamese troops sent 10 rounds of Russian 140mm rockets into the U.S. 1st Marine Division headquarters six miles southwest of Da Nang. The headquarters said casualties and damage were light.

It was the second day in a row that military installations around Da Nang were shelled.

In another action in the Da Nang area, troops of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade clashed with about 300 North Vietnamese entrenched in fortified positions 23 miles southwest of the city Wednesday. The Americans reported killing at least 20 of the enemy in a day-long fight and said four Americans were killed and 10 wounded.

Last week's toll of 1,838 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed compared with a revised total of 1,601 for the week before and probably will increase considerably as more reports come in.

In addition to the 127 Americans killed, the U.S. Command said 1,031 were wounded last week, and 393 of these were hospitalized. These casualties compared with 166 killed and 1,253 wounded the week before and brought the total number of U.S. combat dead to 29,477 since Jan. 1, 1961.
